

Dr. Scott Blackstone

Dr. Blackstone has been active in the field of micro-machining of silicon for many years, publishing papers and giving invited talks. He was CEO and founder of BCO Technologies, a leader in fabrication technology of these devices. When acquired by Analog Devices, he lead the group to focus this technology on optical communications. Since then he has consulted on a wide variety of silicon micro-maching projects.