

IEEE MINI CONDUCTOR

IEEE Dayton Section Meeting

** Wednesday ** Evening, October 14

6:00pm to 8:00pm

New Meeting Location
Miami Valley Regional Center

at 4801 Springfield St., (that's the same street as the AF Museum, and about a mile West of the Museum, just outside the Dayton corporation line.) (ASC) Affiliate Societies Council, Inc is co-located within the Miami Valley Regional Center, which allows us to use the building. www.ascdayton.org. The building has a very nice parking lot with lights next to the building, and a park area behind the bldg.

All Welcome!

Since we plan to have our Fall Lecture Series, being organized by the Computer Chapter in this facility in late October, this is a chance to see the facility. More details will be coming once Lowell and Dave finalize the schedule.

NOTE: Due to conflicts with courses, etc, we have moved from the normal Tuesday night to Wednesday.

We will be serving pizza!!
(free food!), so please attend!!

Also - Thanks Nils for setting up this meeting room location with the help of the ASC !!

ABSTRACT:

Today's technical professionals have many questions about what career options they might have and how to keep their career options open. This presentation insights into options that can lead an engineer to life-long career satisfaction and success.

You will explore the essence of looking at your career as it's owner and manager as opposed to as an employee; in addition, you will hear how two individual engineers have developed flexibility to keep their careers vital and will participate in a question and answer session.

BIO: Margaret Lyon holds a Master's Degree in Management from Central Michigan University and a Bachelor's degree in Secondary Education and has done extensive course work in information science and cognitive psychology. She is a member of IEEE's Employment and Career Development Committee, and has spoken at regional and national IEEE and ASTD conferences.

Life Insurance Awareness Month

September is Life Insurance Awareness Month, and IEEE wants to help you review this important coverage and the peace of mind it provides.

You know that an informed decision is a good decision, so take this opportunity to review the planning tools we've provided in LifeSmart Magazine, an interactive e-guide prepared especially for members of IEEE. This tool will help you estimate your life insurance needs and provide you with information about several life insurance plans sponsored by IEEE. These plans offer competitive group rates and portable coverage that can go with you no matter where your career takes you.*
