2009 IEEE International Conference on Vehicular Electronics and Safety
Organized by IEEE Bombay Section
Sponsored by the IEEE Intelligent Transportation Systems Society
Nov 10-12, 2009, Pune, India

The International Conference in Vehicular Electronics and Safety (ICVES) is an Annual Meeting sponsored by IEEE Intelligent Transportation Systems Society (ITSS) as a forum for researchers from Industry and Universities to discuss research and applications in Vehicle Electronics and Safety. Papers dealing with all aspects of vehicular electronics and safety related intelligent systems are solicited for this fifth meeting, ICVES 2009. The topics include but not limited to following:

- Vehicle Energy Technologies
- Vehicle Computing Platforms
- Vehicle Networks & Communication
- Vehicle-to-X Communication
- Vehicle Human-Machine Interaction
- Vehicle Sensor & Actuator Technologies
- Automobile X-by-Wire Systems
- Vehicle Control Systems
- Vehicle Radar Technologies
- Automobile Speech Recognition
- Vehicle Pattern Recognition
- Automotive Biometrics
- Machine Learning in Automobiles
- Automobile Antennas, EMI & EMC
- Navigation & Location-Based Services
- Diagnostics & Prognostics Services
- Automotive Telematics
- Powertrain Systems
- Chassis Systems
- Body Systems
- Climate Control
- Lighting Systems
- Active Safety Systems
- Passive Safety Systems
- Physical & Data Security Systems
- Infotainment Systems
- Any other topics related with Vehicular Electronics and Safety

PAPER SUBMISSION

Complete manuscripts in PDF must be electronically submitted at : <http://edas.info/N7761>
Manuscripts should be at most six pages with 10pt font in the IEEE two-column format including figures, tables and references. The template is available at <http://www.ieee.org/portal/pages/pubs/transactions/stylesheets.html>
