

CEA Sponsored Membership

- in the -

IEEE CE Society

CEA's Small Business Council is pleased to announce that complimentary memberships to the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers \(IEEE\) and its Consumer Electronics Society are now available to employees of small businesses that are member companies of CEA.

As a special benefit to CEA's small business members, CEA has set aside a sponsorship fund to cover technical employees' first year membership fees in the IEEE and CE Society - a $170 value! After experiencing a year of sponsored membership, employees are encouraged to renew their memberships on their own and continue their life-long learning.

The CE Society provides a wealth of information and professional development for engineers and technical personnel in the CE industry. Member benefits include a Newsletter, publication of technical papers in the peer-reviewed CE Transactions, 2 annual conferences, awards and recognition, exclusive access to many special CE publications, and more.

To qualify for the CEA Small Business Sponsorship, an applicant must be

- ✓ a full time employee of a CEA member company with annual sales less than $30 million, and
- ✓ not already a current member of the CE Society/IEEE.

CEA will sponsor one new membership per company.

If you or a colleague are part of your company's technical team and would like to receive the benefits of CE Society membership, simply fill out the IEEE/CE Society membership application and CEA verification form, and mail them to:

Charlotte Kobert
CE Society AdCom Executive Administrator
4115 Clendenning Road
Gibsonia, PA 15044

Applicant will be notified of acceptance by email.
