

Call for Proposals

Show & Tell

at ICASSP 2009
in Taipei, Taiwan

For the second year, the program committee for the International Conference on Acoustics, Speech, and Signal Processing is accepting proposals for the Show & Tell event that will be held during the conference. The event will include demonstrations of latest innovations by research groups in industry, academia and government. Demonstrations can be related to any of the topics defined by ICASSP as shown in the call for papers (see <http://www.icassp09.com/ICASSP2009.pdf>). Show & Tell sessions will run concurrently with regular ICASSP sessions in the morning and afternoon of April 22-23.

The deadline for submission of Show & Tell proposals is January 15, 2009 with notification of acceptance by January 31, 2009. Submissions will be accepted via the ICASSP 2009 web site, www.icassp09.com. Proposals should include the demonstration title, list of authors, and an abstract of one page or less. The abstract should clearly explain what is novel and innovative in the proposed demonstration. Show & Tell demonstrations should have an interactive component (i.e., should be more than a simple computer simulation or graph). On the other hand, commercial product demonstrations will be considered more appropriate for ICASSP exhibits than Show & Tell.

Each demonstration will be allotted one 180x60cm table, space for a poster, and a power outlet. Presenters are responsible for all other equipment and shipping to and from the conference. Unlike 2008, there will be no charge for Show & Tell at ICASSP 2009 in Taipei. Presenters must register for ICASSP 2009 in order to participate in Show & Tell demonstrations.
