WELCOME TO WASHINGTON, DC

Washington, DC has evolved into much more than the nation's capital, as the city received its first Michelin Guide in October 2016, signifying to the world what the locals already know: it's a true culinary destination. Celebrated restaurants complement vibrant neighborhoods, world-class museums, an array of outdoor activities and signature events like the National Cherry Blossom Festival.

3 WAYS TO EXPERIENCE DC COOL

PLAN, CAPTURE AND SHARE YOUR COOL MOMENTS IN DC

As you wander through the District's distinctive neighborhoods, dine at its exemplary eateries and marvel at its national landmarks, make sure to use #MyDCcool to share your capital experiences on social media. For an even deeper dive into what makes DC cool, visit washington.org.

1 EXPLORE DC'S NEIGHBORHOODS

Populated by locally owned restaurants and markets, indie boutiques and music venues like the legendary 9:30 Club and the vibrant Echostage, the neighborhoods of Washington, DC have their own unique vibe. Discover what sets each one apart, from Beaux Arts architecture and popular events to renowned attractions and off-the-mall museums.

For more on neighborhoods, see page 26.

2 SEEK OUT SCENERY

The monuments on the National Mall dazzle in daylight, but when cascaded by moonlight, their grandeur is all the more evident. Whether you're viewing the Jefferson Memorial next to the shimmering Tidal Basin or peering through the columns of the Lincoln Memorial, nighttime is a perfect time to experience DC landmarks.

For more on the National Mall, see page 24.

3 BITE INTO SOMETHING DELICIOUS

Whether you're looking for a Michelin-approved tasting menu or the most raved-about food truck, the city offers up a full suite of culinary adventures. Dig in at Union Market, where local food artisans hold court. And then book a table in 2016's "Hottest Food City" and "Restaurant City of the Year," according to Zagat and Bon Appétit.

For more on dining, see page 32.

10 FREE AND ALMOST FREE THINGS TO DO IN DC

From viewing historic monuments to exploring scenic parks to hearing live music, DC's collection of free and almost free things to do covers a wide variety of activities and neighborhoods.

HERE ARE 10 RECOMMENDATIONS.

Smithsonian National Museum of African American History and Culture

1. WITNESS THE MAJESTY OF THE NEWEST MUSEUM

Last fall, the National Mall welcomed the Smithsonian National Museum of African American History and Culture, which features stunning architecture and five floors of exhibitions and artifacts that tell the incredible story of the African American experience. Same-day passes are available online at 6:30 am.

2. BASK IN THE SOUNDS OF JAZZ AT THE NATIONAL GALLERY OF ART SCULPTURE GARDEN

The 'Jazz in the Garden' series is one of the most popular summertime activities in town. Jazz bands and artists jam in front of picnic-toting locals at the National Gallery of Art garden, which is filled with sculptures from modern masters. Wine and snacks are available for purchase. The series is free and runs from late May to early September, on Friday evenings.

3. CREATE A MOMENT AT THE NATIONAL MALL'S MEMORIALS

A stroll through the National Mall presents countless opportunities for Instagram glory, as you can stand beside Abe on his perch at the Lincoln Memorial, marvel at Jefferson Memorial views along the Tidal Basin and reflect on the great civil rights icon at the Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial.

Walk along the Tidal Basin

4. TAP INTO COMMUNAL SPIRIT AT MERIDIAN HILL PARK'S DRUM CIRCLE

Located near the vibrant neighborhoods of Columbia Heights and Adams Morgan, Meridian Hill Park features gorgeous scenery and sculptures. Its long-running Sunday afternoon drum circle invites any and all to participate, creating a scene like none other in the nation's capital.

5. LIVE THAT MARKET LIFE AT DC OUTPOSTS BEDECKED WITH LOCAL VENDORS

Historic Georgetown's flea market is open every Sunday year-round, with local vendors selling antique jewelry and vintage clothing. For farm-fresh deliciousness, head downtown to Capital Harvest on the Plaza on Friday afternoons and the Columbia Heights Farmers Market on Saturdays and Wednesdays. Of course, there's always Eastern Market, a Capitol Hill institution.

6. EXPERIENCE A FREE PERFORMANCE AT THE KENNEDY CENTER'S MILLENNIUM STAGE

The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts hosts free concerts on its Millennium Stage at 6 pm daily. The variety of performers is impressive: On one night, you may catch the United States Army Band; on another, an indie-folk act or an up-and-coming Broadway star.

7. MAKE THE MOST OF THE DC DISTILLERY CRAZE

Locals have turned their attention to crafting spirits, which has given rise to numerous distilleries in the area. Many offer free or inexpensive tours and tastings, including District Distilling Co., New Columbia Distillers, Don Ciccio & Figli and Republic Restoratives.

8. EMBRACE THE REVITALIZED RIVERFRONT AT THE YARDS PARK

Before or after you attend a Washington Nationals game, admire and savor the modern green space nearby that is The Yards Park in Capitol Riverfront. The free-to-enter area features a futuristic footbridge, a kid-friendly wading canal and plenty of space for playtime next to the water.

9. EXPLORE ROCK CREEK PARK, A NEARLY 3,000-ACRE PLAYGROUND

With over 48 miles of trails, Rock Creek Park serves as a scenic refuge from the city, perfect for a peaceful walk, run or bike ride, especially during the warmer months. For a dose of history, visit Peirce Mill, which served as a water-powered grist mill in the 1800s.

THE DISTRICT IN BLOOM

The blooming of Japanese cherry blossom trees and the corresponding National Cherry Blossom Festival turn DC into an incredible springtime spectacle.

FESTIVAL FUN

The National Cherry Blossom Festival is one of DC's signature celebrations, with thousands flocking to witness the peak bloom of the blossoms each year. The average peak bloom date is April 4, but check nps.gov/cherry for the latest prediction about when the trees will look their best.

This year marks the 90th anniversary of the festival, providing another reason to celebrate. Highlights include the Opening Ceremony (March 25) featuring Japanese-themed performances inside the Warner Theatre, and on the same day, the Smithsonian American Art Museum's Cherry Blossom Celebration for children and families.

The Washington Monument grounds play host to the Blossom Kite Festival (on April 1) before the National Cherry Blossom Festival Parade presented by Events DC (on April 8, DC's Emancipation Day), Cherry Blast produced by Events DC (on April 14) and the Southwest Waterfront Fireworks Festival presented by Harris Teeter (on April 15).

CityCenterDC, National Cherry Blossom Festival

BUT THERE'S MORE!

The festival also features the City In Bloom program, with iconic buildings and storefronts sporting pink lighting and themed decals to signify cherry blossom spirit. Participants include Arena Stage, Capital Wheel, CityCenterDC and the Warner Theatre.

The Cherry Picks program means creative spring-themed menus at DC restaurants, including Quarter and Glory, Station Kitchen, Daikaya and Rocklands Barbeque and Grilling Company.

EXPERIENCE CULTURE

Asian culture and cuisine pair perfectly with cherry blossom season. Visit the National Bonsai & Penjing Museum inside the U.S. National Arboretum, which features centuries-old Japanese bonsai trees, beautiful outdoor pavilions and Asian-inspired moon gates. Head to the Arthur M. Sackler Gallery to view Asian art in different genres and be sure not to miss the polka dot-filled Yayoi Kusama exhibit at the Hirshhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden.

BLOSSOMS AROUND TOWN

The Tidal Basin is the most widely known spot for capturing the cherry blossoms, but have Instagram ready when you visit these other locales. Use the hashtag: #MyDCcool.

- Hains Point in East Potomac Park has a gorgeous loop trail that showcases cherry blossoms and the Potomac River.
- Stanton Park in historic Capitol Hill features a dramatic display of cherry blossom trees bursting into bloom.
- Dumbarton Oaks in Georgetown is one of the city's best-kept secrets, with incredible views, rose gardens and blossoming cherry trees. Regular garden admission is $10.

SUMMER BREEZE

DC's outdoor offerings are perfect for taking advantage of spring and summer sunshine.

PARKS & RECREATION

The National Arboretum provides 446 acres of natural bliss, including gardens, trails and the historic National Capitol Columns, which once stood on the East Portico of the U.S. Capitol building.

National Capitol Columns at the National Arboretum

Marvel at the historic house and garden at Tudor Place, set in the middle of scenic Georgetown. Hillwood Estate, Museum & Gardens, once the home of cereal company heiress Marjorie Merriweather Post, features a stunning house with classic French and Russian art, as well as beautiful gardens.

Bike, run or walk along the gorgeous C&O Canal and catch amazing views of the Potomac River (you may see some wildlife, too). A short drive into Virginia can bring you to Great Falls Park, where you can choose from an array of trails that take you right to the river.

ON THE WATERFRONT

Rent a canoe or kayak at the Key Bridge Boathouse or at Thompson's Boat Center to paddle along the Potomac and enjoy the breathtaking DC skyline.

Take a dinner or lunch cruise aboard the Odyssey or The Spirit of Washington. These floating restaurants also provide views of the monuments and on-board entertainment.

Kick back for a meal at Farmers Fishers Bakers before taking a stroll on the Washington Harbour – Instagrammable shots abound.

To satisfy a sweet tooth, grab a scoop from Ice Cream Jubilee in Capitol Riverfront, then take a walk through The Yards Park.

PICNIC PARTY

Gravelly Point, situated at the north end of Reagan National Airport's runway, has plenty of space for a picnic as you watch planes take off and land overhead.

In Capitol Riverfront, Canal Park supplies ample picnic areas for families and benches for relaxing. Kids will love running through the dancing fountains when the weather is warm.

Kenilworth Park & Aquatic Gardens features beautiful water lilies and lotus flowers during the summer time, as well as green space for picnicking. You may even spot an animal or two while you enjoy your lunch!

SPRING & SUMMER SPORTS

The Washington Nationals are a must-see from April to September. The 2016 National League East champions feature All-Stars Bryce Harper, Daniel Murphy and Max Scherzer.

D.C. United rocks RFK Stadium throughout spring and summer. The most decorated U.S. soccer team ever has stars in goalie Bill Hamid and forward Patrick Mullins.

5 MUSEUMS FOR A FAMILY ADVENTURE

1. The International Spy Museum offers real and fictional espionage tales and experiences, from WWII code-cracking machines to an exhibit on James Bond's villains. Operation Spy is an intense one-hour mission for ages 12 and older.

2. The Smithsonian National Museum of Natural History features a Butterfly Pavilion full of live butterflies and exotic plants. The Sant Ocean Hall sports 674 marine specimens and models. High-definition videos explore our oceans' depths.

3. The National Building Museum features interactive experiences including The Building Zone, where kids ages 2 through 6 can build towers and drive bulldozers.

4. Newseum lets young on-air journalists show their skills inside the NBC News Interactive Newsroom. Families will also love America's first dogs at the First Dogs: American Presidents and Their Pets exhibit. Free entry for kids 6 and under.

5. Wegmans Wonderplace at the Smithsonian National Museum of American History provides interactive experiences designed for kids 6 and under, from a child-sized kitchen to a tugboat model.

NEAR THE NATIONAL MALL

The National Mall is DC's centerpiece and America's most visited national park. The historic monuments, memorials and museums that fill the park serve as majestic symbols of the nation's past, present and future.

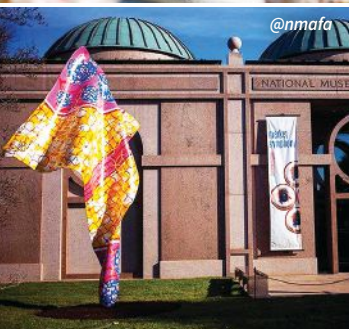

@sanculpah

MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR. MEMORIAL

Set on a four-acre site along the Tidal Basin, this memorial pays tribute to the civil rights pioneer. Made from pink granite, the 30-foot statue complements the nearby cherry blossoms in spring. Two Inscription Walls and the statue feature MLK's inspirational quotes.

@nmafa

SMITHSONIAN NATIONAL MUSEUM OF AFRICAN ART

This museum located on the National Mall displays thousands of African artifacts, including sculptures and other stunning visual works. Admission is free, and docent-led tours are available daily.

@adayinthelaz

NATIONAL GALLERY OF ART'S EAST BUILDING

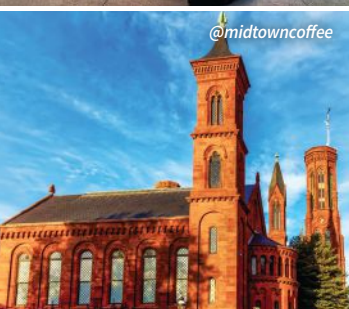

During a three-year renovation, the museum's East Building added two sky-lit tower galleries, a rooftop terrace with a 15-foot-tall sculpture of a blue rooster by artist Katharina Fritzsche and over 500 works of art, including pieces by Alexander Calder, Mark Rothko and Pablo Picasso.

@freersackler

ARTHUR M. SACKLER GALLERY

This Smithsonian museum showcases 6,000 years of Asian and Near Eastern art with a permanent collection that includes ancient Iranian vessels and Buddhist statues. Its sister museum, the Freer Gallery of Art, will re-open in fall 2017, after a renovation.

@midtowncoffee

THE SMITHSONIAN CASTLE

The Smithsonian Castle's Victorian arches and dark woodwork suggest a bygone era, but the first Smithsonian building in the District holds a modern visitor center with interactive 3D maps pinpointing and detailing the 17 DC-area Smithsonian Institution properties. The Castle also features an exhibit dedicated to the history of all the museums and the life of the Institution's namesake, James Smithson.

Library of Congress

CAPITOL HILL

Known as the home of the U.S. Capitol, the Library of Congress and the Supreme Court, Capitol Hill is a fantastic neighborhood for dining. Try the fried chicken at Art & Soul, the buckwheat pancakes at Eastern Market and the mussels at Belga Café on Barracks Row.

CAPITOL RIVERFRONT

Warm weather means Washington Nationals games in Capitol Riverfront, an area that continues to evolve. Enjoy a scenic stroll through The Yards Park before indulging in the regional Italian cuisine served at Osteria Morini and sweet tooth-satisfying treats at Ice Cream Jubilee.

ADAMS MORGAN

Eclectic and vibrant, Adams Morgan features one of the best bar scenes in the District and showcases creativity via record stores and fashionable boutiques. Have a cocktail at Roofers Union, score vintage threads at Meeps, shop for vinyl at Smash! and groove to the live blues at Madam's Organ.

ANACOSTIA

Rich with African American history, Anacostia highlights include Cedar Hill, the home of Frederick Douglass, and Smithsonian's Anacostia Community Museum. The Anacostia Riverwalk Trail makes for great outdoor recreation. Catch art exhibitions and many performances for free at the Anacostia Arts Center.

PENN QUARTER & CHINATOWN

This neighborhood serves as DC's main entertainment center, with sports games and star-studded concerts filling Verizon Center while Shakespeare Theatre Company hosts acclaimed performances just across the street. For dinner, grab drinks and American fare at Penn Commons or enjoy a taste of South America at Del Campo.

Babrak Pakravan, Bar Manager at Penn Commons, on Penn Quarter's evolution: "This neighborhood has grown so much over the years, and there are so many great restaurants to explore. It all feels connected, which makes for an awesome experience." #MyDCcool

GEORGETOWN

The quaint streets of Georgetown, like M Street and Cady's Alley, might as well be paved with gold. Learn DC's history at Tudor Place and Old Stone House before enjoying the wealth of modern shopping options. A trip to Washington Harbour and a meal at Tony & Joe's Seafood Place are two more must-dos.

Sights of Georgetown

DUPONT CIRCLE

Centered around an iconic and gorgeous fountain, Dupont Circle is a cultural hub. You can visit America's first museum of modern art, The Phillips Collection, browse books and sip a latte at Kramerbooks & Afterwords Cafe and bask in evening laughs at DC Improv.

U STREET

Once known as "Black Broadway," U Street's fascinating past informs its vibrant present. Hear live music at 9:30 Club, Howard Theatre or U Street Music Hall, and try a delicious half-smoke from the legendary Ben's Chili Bowl.

9:30 Club

DOWNTOWN

DC's dynamic downtown features cultural attractions such as the National Museum of Women in the Arts and the Renwick Gallery. Fill up shopping bags at high-end stores like kate spade new york and Louis Vuitton, and dine in style at Daniel Boulud's DBGB Kitchen & Bar or at Fig & Olive, all inside CityCenterDC.

H STREET NE

You can fit a lot into a 1.5-mile stretch of DC. Check out restaurant/coffeehouse/retail shop Maketto (order the fried chicken) and see a show at Rock & Roll Hotel. H Street also features the DC Streetcar, back after a 50-plus year hiatus.

H Street

Espita Mezcaleria

SHAW

Situated near downtown, Shaw is at the forefront of the DC dining revolution. Grab a seat at Table for outstanding farm-to-table fare, or stroll through Blagden Alley, which is ripe with restaurants and coffee shops. Venture to Espita Mezcaleria for inventive southern Mexican cuisine and drinks with a kick, or try sweet treats at Buttercream Bakeshop.

NOMA

NoMa stands for “North of Massachusetts Avenue,” and the neighborhood is as hip as its name. Union Market is a DC gem, featuring delicious bites and unique wares from local artisans. Nearby, cool down with gelato from the Dolcetta Factory and marvel at the jaw-dropping architecture inside the recently renovated Union Station.

Amanda McClements, Owner of Salt & Sundry, on visiting the NoMa neighborhood: “Exploring on foot is the best way to get a real taste of the neighborhood. Start at Union Market, and plan to spend a few hours taking it all in. And visit some of the new distilleries in the area.” #MyDCcool @metrocrean

10 MICHELIN GUIDE-APPROVED DC RESTAURANTS

Over the past year, DC's dining scene has accrued its share of accolades, including recognition from Bon Appétit and Zagat. Now the city has its first Michelin Guide. Read on for 10 restaurants honored in the prestigious guide.

5 BIB GOURMAND RESTAURANTS

China Chilcano serves up delicious Peruvian fare with influences from Chinese Chifa and Japanese Nikkei cuisine. Relish José Andrés' creative mash-up and wash it down with a pisco from the extensive cocktail list.

Ottoman Taverna in Mount Vernon Triangle highlights the wonders of Turkish cuisine, as Chef Hakan Ilhan pays homage to his native country with incredible kebabs and flatbreads that emerge from a wood-burning oven.

Oyamel, José Andrés' take on Mexican food, features innovative taco creations, a colorful selection of margaritas and irresistible guacamole – best eaten José-style with corn tortillas.

The Red Hen and Chef Mike Freidman welcome diners with a cozy neighborhood feel and outstanding Italian-influenced pasta and seafood dishes, like mezza rigatoni with fennel sausage and caramelized scallops.

Zaytinya is another treasure from José Andrés, where the chef blends Greek, Lebanese and Turkish cuisine into small plate heaven. The mezze menu makes this an ideal spot to bring a group.

Plume at The Jefferson, Washington, DC

5 MICHELIN-STARRED RESTAURANTS

★ Blue Duck Tavern, helmed by Executive Chef Frank Loquet, specializes in seasonal farm-to-fork dishes fit for indulgence. When it's time for dessert, order the legendary apple pie. The eatery also features a delicious breakfast and weekend brunch menu.

★ Kinship serves modern American cuisine that has been dazzling patrons since acclaimed Chef Eric Ziebold opened the restaurant's doors in December 2015.

★ Masseria is Chef Nicholas Stefanelli's ode to rustic Southern Italian cooking, located in NoMa. Make time for perfectly prepared coastal cuisine and an impressive wine list.

★★ minibar shines as José Andrés' journey through the world of molecular gastronomy, a stunning amalgam of culinary and artistic expertise. Plan ahead: the restaurant is regularly booked months in advance.

★ Plume provides prix-fixe perfection inside the elegant Jefferson Hotel. German Chef Ralf Schlegel uses his mastery to develop menus inspired by Thomas Jefferson's kitchen gardens at Monticello.

ROOFTOP REVELRY

DC hotels and restaurants feature rooftop digs that serve as a perfect backdrop for socializing. Here are some of our favorites.

Named one of the world's best rooftop bars by Travel Channel, POV Rooftop Lounge and Terrace at the W Washington DC hotel provides Instagrammable views of the monuments and an array of crafty cocktails.

The Rooftop at the Embassy Row Hotel overlooks Dupont Circle and has delectable bites to go along with cocktails served under cabanas and poolside.

Overlook the scenic urban roundabout that is Thomas Circle while you savor innovative cocktails and sushi at the DNV Rooftop at the Kimpton Donovan Hotel.

Named after DC legend Marvin Gaye, Restaurant Marvin touts rooftop DJs, classic drinks and soul food with a Belgian twist. Got to Give It Up for that lineup.

Richard Sandoval's Masa 14 combines a menu of Latin-Asian fusion and signature cocktails for a quintessential summer experience. Visit during happy hour, 4-7 pm.
