

Wednesday January 27th 2016
5:30 pm

Collamer Crossings Business Parkway,
24 Aspen Park Blvd
Dewitt, New York
(next to Northwestern Mutual)

Join the IEEE Syracuse Section at the new CNY Hub for Emerging Nano Industries of SUNY CNSE for our inaugural Industry Night. An evening of networking, presentations, product demos and dinner with colleagues and professionals.

Registration

$20 for IEEE Members & Students
$15 for Student IEEE Members
$30 for Non-Members
(Includes Dinner)

Register online :
<https://meetings.vtools.ieee.org/m/37234>

Want to get involved?

Contact George Blasiak to have your company represented at this event.

gb@hrfmlaw.com or (315) 247-8167

Industry Night

Presentations and Product Demos by:

Joe Casper, Founder and Chief Technology Officer, Ephesus Lighting (now part of Eaton Corporation) Light Based Internet of Things: How Ephesus Lit Up the Super Bowl

Michael Fancher, Director, New York State Center for Advanced Technology in Nanomaterials and Nanoelectronics, SUNY Poly.
Public – Private Partnerships: Survey of SUNY Poly Partnerships and Initiatives in Central New York

Harris Frank, Director, Technical Operations, Saab Defense and Security USA
An Approach to Highly Modular and Reusable Software Development

Arun Gowda, Manager, Electronics Packaging, GE Global Research
GE at Utica Quad-C: General Electric's New Power Chip and Packaging Presence in Utica

John Lane, Director of Research and Development, Welch Allyn
Medical Device Product Development: Next Gen Medical Devices of Welch Allyn and Hill-Rom

Max Kunz, Chief Executive Officer, Volpi Group
Photonic Based Medical Instrumentation

Mike Leone, Director and Chief Engineer, Integrated Warfare Systems and Sensors, Lockheed Martin. Trends in Radar

Vince Socci, President, LHP Platform Division, LHP Engineering Solutions
A Rapid Prototyping Workflow for Embedded Controls

Jeff Pine, Co-Founder and Vice President, Jadak
Machine Vision and the Internet of Things

And More!

Defence and Security

WelchAllyn®

