IEEE EMBS Career Developments in Biomedical Engineering

The Queensland Chapter of the IEEE Engineering in Medicine and Biology Society (EMBS) is proud to announce the 2009 career development day for Biomedical Engineers in Queensland.

Speakers from academic and research institutions, healthcare industries, and HR consulting in Queensland will give their perspective on careers in biomedical engineering. The presentations will be targeted towards up and coming students, young professional engineers, and those involved in biomedical sciences. High school students considering tertiary study options in biomedical engineering may also wish to attend.

We look forward to seeing you and as seats are limited, we advise you to register early.
