Hackathon 1.0 was organised by the IEEE Student Branch REVA University for the 1st time. Basically it is a event where the participants have to hack time and build a project. The time was limited i.e. 12hours and an innovative project should be build by each team. Since it was organised for the 1st time the hackathon was open themed meaning they have to come up with a problem statement and solution for it. Snacks and tea was arranged throughout the night for the participants.
