Session details:*Date: 26th April 2020.Time: 11:00 am – 12:00pm.No. of participants: 5.

Due to the outbreak of coronavirus all the educational institutes had been closed for a long time. So we decided to conduct a general body meeting of CASS on online platform called 'Cisco Webex'. The main agenda of this general body meeting was regarding how to keep the CASS society active during this lockdown period. So we decided to conduct webinars that would help students increase their knowledge during these tough times. All possible ideas were discussed and some topics were shortlisted.

CASS advisor had previously suggested conducting a webinar on Embedded systems considering its importance as a common subject for both electrical and computer science students. Executive committee members have mentioned various interesting topics which include some of the latest trends in the present day industry such as IoT, machine learning and automation based on IoT.

The GBM mainly concentrated on how to provide students the best quality of information in this lockdown period to avoid wastage of precious time and the most relevant resource persons for each of the topics. It is also discussed about conducting membership drive for the induction of new students interested into IEEE and CASS Society.
