

Photo by Philippe Bisailon

Chiffon performed high above the stage during the Wednesday evening gala. Her performance involved using only one very long white drape which she used to spin, drop, and curl herself into incredulous positions.

Denise and Ken Hall traveled from Northern California to enjoy the city of Montréal. Ken joined several of his colleagues from various divisions of Hewlett Packard at the symposium.

Photo by Janet O'Neil

Photo by Philippe Bisailon

The entertainment included various performers on stilts during the reception preceding the Wednesday evening gala. Lise Thériault enjoyed a unique handshake with one tall fellow!

Photo by Philippe Bisailon

The Palais des Congrès de Montréal was an excellent venue for the Symposium.

Photo by Yaroslav Savenko

Geneviève Trudeau, Philippe Bisailon, Richard Dubamel, Lise Thériault, and Christian Dubé (from left) enjoyed the Wednesday evening gala at Windsor Station.

Photo by Janet O'Neil

Bruce Butler and Garth D'Abreu of ETS-Lindgren enjoyed a kir royal at a cocktail party in Montréal (that's a French drink of champagne and cassis).

Photo by Philippe Bisailon

An aerial view of the exhibit area within the Palais des Congrès de Montréal.