

Photo by Stephen Stimac

Registration at the Wireless 2002 event on February 25 was ably handled by Pat André (left) of the Seattle EMC Society Chapter and Dick Wilkins (shown pointing) of the Seattle Computer Society Chapter.

Photo by Stephen Stimac

Northwest EMC had a prominent display at the tabletop show held during Wireless 2002. The Northwest EMC folks were not present at their display when this photo was taken as they attended the technical presentations. They are serious about wireless technology!

Photo by Stephen Stimac

The "Pat and Steve Show" turned out to be one of the most popular Seattle Chapter meetings in recent memory. 46 people turned out to hear EMC consultants Steve Jensen (left) and Pat André discuss some humorous EMC tales.

Photo by Stephen Stimac

Todd Stockert of Agilent Technologies manned his tabletop display during Wireless 2002 when he wasn't busy giving a presentation. Todd was one of six speakers at the all day event.

Photo by Stephen Stimac

The tabletop display area provided a relaxed atmosphere for attendees to network during the breaks in the Wireless 2002 technical program.

Photo by Stephen Stimac

It was a full house at CKC Labs in Redmond for the January Seattle Chapter meeting with speaker Juba Junkkarinen. The topic presented was NEBS testing.

Dinner at the January Seattle Chapter meeting was provided courtesy of CKC Labs and Wyle Labs, partners in NEBS compliance. Bob Nees of CKC Labs, Juba Junkkarinen of Juba Junkkarinen, Inc. and Keith Anderson of Wyle Labs (from left) were on hand to ensure everyone enjoyed the dinner catered by Tony Roma's.

Photo by Stephen Stimac