Program: Litigation in the Construction Industry

Speaker: Adam Richie, PE

About the Speaker: Adam's work is concentrated primarily in construction-related legal matters involving transactions and litigation. He represents design professionals, owners, general contractors, and subcontractors in a variety of construction transactions and disputes. Adam is a licensed mechanical engineer who, prior to becoming an attorney, worked for almost 10 years as a project engineer/project manager for a prominent MEP Engineering Firm in Houston, Texas.

Abstract: Adam Richie, P.E., Attorney-at-Law with Coats|Rose, will discuss some of the key risks that engineers face in today's practice and explain how recent changes in the law are impacting the practice of engineering.
