

Type your abstract title here: please use lowercase letters and do not capitalize words.

Amedeo Avogadro<sup>1</sup>, Galileo Ferraris<sup>2</sup>, Joseph-Louis Lagrange<sup>3</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Istituto di Fisica, Università di Torino, Italy

<sup>2</sup>Regio Museo Industriale Italiano, Torino, Italy

<sup>3</sup>Regia Scuola di Artiglieria e Accademia delle Scienze, Torino, Italy

This is the template file for the abstracts to be submitted to the AIM 2018 conference [1]. It is intentionally simple, as it can be adapted to any word processor on any operating system of your choice. You can arrange the abstract however you like, as long as you respect the one-page limit, and you do not change font (Helvetica), size (11 pt, the title is 12 pt bold), margins or paper size (A4).

Be sure you provide the full list of authors with respective affiliations. It is not necessary that you add the corresponding author's email address, as it will automatically be inserted by the system when finalising the programme. Please do not add page numbers or any other headers or footers.

You can add figures, equations and references. Proof-check the final abstract for its contents and for its conformity to this template. Then, save it to a pdf file, taking care to double-check that the final pdf document has A4 document size and the file does not exceed 2 MB. Submit it to AIM 2018 following the submission instructions available on the conference website [1].

Thank you for your interest in AIM 2018: your contribution is crucial for the success of the conference! See you in La Thuile in February 2018.

Figure 1. Left to right: portraits of A. Avogadro, G. Ferraris and J.-L. Lagrange.

[1] <http://www.aim2018.it>