Dr Progress Mtshali
ICTAS2019 Treasurer
Department of Information Technology

Dr Progress Mtshali is a Senior Lecturer in the Department of Information Technology.

He was born in Newcastle, KwaZulu-Natal and lived in the United States for an extended period before returning to South Africa.

His education includes a B.S. ChE (Bacheclor of Chemical Engineering) from the State University of New York at Buffalo, an A.S. (Computer Technology) from Midlands Technical College in Columbia, South Carolina in United States, a M.S. and Ph.D. (Information Systems) from Nova South-eastern University in Fort Lauderdale, Florida in the United States.

His interests include IoT, computer networking, data analytics, database management, cryptography, compiler theory, computer programming, computational number theory and machine learning.