Scope

The IEEE International Conference on Safety, Security, and Rescue Robotics (SSRR) is an international forum for furthering the study of safety, security and rescue robotics as well as solutions necessary for fielding robots and sensor systems across a variety of application areas. This symposium welcomes submissions on the theory and practice of robotics and automation for all types of safety, security and rescue applications such as disaster response, mitigation and recovery; rapid and secure inspection of critical infrastructure; detection of chemical, biological and radiological risks, and operations in these dangerous sites.

Registration

Participants are requested to register for the conference using the procedure on the homepage of the symposium. The link directs you to eventbrite.

Language

The language of the conference is English.

Travel

The nearest airports to Würzburg are Frankfurt (120 km, recommended), Nürnberg (100 km) and Munich (280 km). From there you can get to Würzburg directly by trains.

Conference Venue

The workshop will be held at the new University of Würzburg Graduate Schools building.

<https://www.graduateschools.uni-wuerzburg.de/uwgs/contact/directions/>

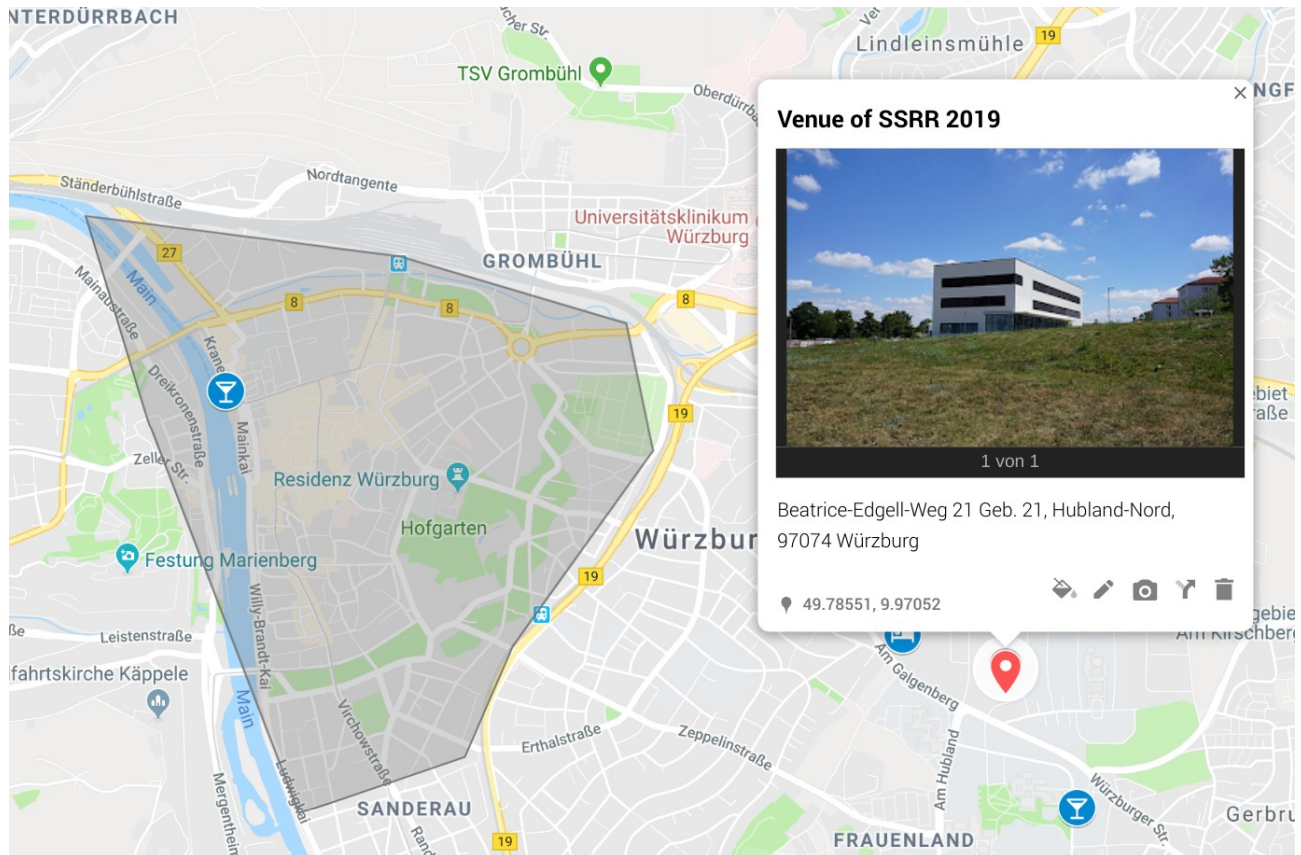

The venue can be reached from downtown with the following bus lines

- Line 14 (stop Am Hubland, Würzburg)
- Line 214 (stop Hubland/Mensa)
- Line 29 (stop Philosophisches Institut)
- Line 10 (stop Emil-Fischer-Straße)

In Würzburg bus drivers check tickets every time you enter the bus. They also sell tickets and you may ask for directions.

Hotels

SSRR is a small conference and thus, we cannot book contingents for the participants. Any hotel downtown will do. Please choose the one, which fits your budget. Typically by booking flight+hotel at the same time, you get discounts. Follow the map-link to find hotels in the downtown area.

VISA

If you need a visa, please contact the General Chair Andreas Nüchter (andreas@nuechti.de) to obtain an invitation letter.

City Tour

The city tour will take place Sunday September 1.

Meeting 14:00 (2 p.m.) at “Bahnhofsvorplatz” (Square in front of the central train station) at Kiliansbrunnen (fountain).

Internet during the conference

The venue offers eduroam (education roaming) which is an international roaming service for users in research, higher education and further education. It provides researchers, teachers, and students easy and secure network access when visiting us. Authentication of users is performed by their home institution.

In addition, we provide @BayernWLAN, which provides wireless connection free of charge in Bavaria. It is unsecure and thus, we recommend to use VPN in addition. Further information:
